To Assist Nature

In restoring diseased or wasted tissue is all that any medicine can do. In palmonary affections, such as Colds, Bronchitis, and Consumption, the mucous membrane first becomes inflamed, then accumulations form in the air-cells of the lungs, followed by tubercles, and, finally, destruction of the tissue. It is plain, therefore, that, until the hacking cough is relieved, the bronchial tubes can have no opportunity to heal. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Soothes and Heals the inflamed membrane, arrests the wasting process, and leaves no injurious results. This is why it is more highly esteemed than any other pulmonary

L. D. Bixby, of Bartonsville, Vt., writes: "Four years ago I took a severe cold, which was followed by a terrible cough. I was very sick, and confined to my bed about four months. My physician finally said I was in consumption, and that he could not help me. One of my neighbors advised me to try Aver's Cherry Pectoral. I did so. and before I had taken half a bottle was able to go out. By the time I had finished the bottle I was well, and have remained so ever since."

festival of Juggernaut has so declined in popularity as to render it necessary for the priests to hire coolies to drag the car, is a neasure of the extent to which the dest tive solvent of western thought is being applied to eastern creeds. The car of the great god of Pooree was one of the most sacred of Brahminic "proprieties," and DESILE MEREDITH the Rath Jattra a testival portance, yielded to that of no other deity in the Hindoo Pantheon. From every part of the vast empire of Hindostan pil-grims flocked to share in it, and when the grims flocked to share in it, and when the grims flocked to share in it. Powerful Choras, Strong Cast and a car of Juggernaut was dragged once a year from the temple in order to bathe the gods in the cool water of the tank, a mile and a half distant, the wildest en-Tuesday Evening ... witnessed the Rath Jattra in its palmy days, "they are so greedy and eager to draw it that whosever, by shouldering, crowding, shoving, heaving, thrusting, or in any insolent way, can but lay a hand upon the rope they think themselves blessed and happy. And when it is going along the city there are many that will offer themselves as a sacrifice to the idol, and desperately lie down on the ground that the chariot wheels may run over them, whereby they are killed outright. Some get broken arms, some broken legs, so that many are destroyed, and think to merit heaven."

IN HONOR OF THE GOD At even a later date martyrs to Jugger naut, or Jagganna'th, as he is more cor-rectly termed, were not infrequent. When Francis Buchanan was in Pooree early in this century, he describes the harsh grat ing of the gigantic car as it moved along, the obscene songs of the priests in honor of the god, and the flerce glances which PRICES: 75c. 50c and 25c. > Admitting that the number of devotees pilgrim ships—and the prophecy that a third will be wrecked before the year is out— it is undeniable that Jagganna'th is doomed, and the wealth which it brought to the priest and the towns-people of Pooree is likely to vanish before many years clapse. Sometimes a poor de-crepit wretch, weary of hie or drugged by the priests with Indian hemp or opium, will wildly throw himself in front of the wheels, though he is usually dragged out by the police, who have orders to prevent any attempts at suicide. Saddest abse-ment of all, from the standpoint of Brahminism, it happened a few years ago, for the first time in history, that, to the horror and chagrin of the priests, the car of Jagganna'th stood still in the streets of Pooree while the pilgrims looked on in impious apathy. Yet no harm befell them, although a subsequent famine has been attributed to their sacrilegious carele ess. However, the result has been that hough worshipers still come to Pooree they just as frequently prefer to save themselves the trouble of hauling the gods, and as has happened on the present occasion, the priests, afraid of the idols never reaching the tank, have contracted with irreverential coolies to perform the job for a stipulated number of rupees. Mortality there is, of course, still. The poor die for want of food, of disease, and of lack of proper accommodation. But there is no longer any need for interfer-ing, for the wrong will soon right itself by Jagganna'th ceasing to "draw." east, we fear, is already grown lax in its religious observances. -Longman's Magazine AN OLD INDIAN FIGHTER.

Herrifying Coolness With Which He Gave the Details of the Death of His Fors. I suppose a soldier in battle but rarely knows that he has actually shot a man, but one of these old Indian fighters situ down after dinner, over a pipe, and re-lates to you with quite horrifying coolness every detail of the death which his rifle and his sure eyes dealt to an Indian; and when this one, stroking meanwhile the was, in the moonlight, trying to steal a boat from a party of gold seekers, and how, at the crack of his rifle, the Indian fell his whole length in the boat and never stirred again, I confess I was dumb with amazement. The tragedy had not even the dignity of an event in a man's life. He shot Indians as he ate his dinner, plainly as a mere matter of course; nor was he a brute, but a kindly, honest, good fellow, not in the least bloodthirsty.

One of these very Indian fighters is now sitting before me. I have been acquainted with him for years, and I know him to be a good, kind hearted man, and the idel of the little curly heads who cluster at his knees. He does not look at all as I imagined a murderer would look: he is dignified as well as good hearted-in fact, there is nothing different in his appearance and manner from those of an pearance and manner from those of any other well meaning citizen. And yet he has just been telling me, with a slight, satisfied smile playing over his lips as he spoke, how he once hanged an Indian and again how he cut the throat of another. I am not at all afraid of him, though I must acknowledge that he makes me shudder; but as we think over the matter I wonder all the same—and yet in the south, and all over the sea, I have looked upon some strange, sad scenes, in which blood was not wanting. Am I disgusted when he tells me how he once cut a steak with his bowie knife out of an old Indian! Yes-but there he stands before me, and I must say that he does not at all look Eke a butcher.—A. G.
